We refer to our unique offering as the Three Pillars of Defense. The three pillars, our fluids, tooling and expertise exist to protect against the greatest enemies in the HDD industry: Clay, Sand and Rock (Cobble). Each pillar was created specifically to eliminate the respective target at hand through technological advancements in drilling fluids, tooling and expertise that can only be taught by experience in the trenches. Contractors can have peace of mind that they have everything they need to handle any job or ground condition that comes their way. Because, when the Three Pillars of Defense are engaged, the enemy does not stand a chance.
